Farm Use or Disposition Reports for Other Commodities published in 1964

A report covering disposition of turkeys, chickens and eggs, milk, and meat animals appeared in April, 1965. Reports for the production, use, and value, of non-citrus fruits are issued in 2 parts on May 3 and July 1; and citrus fruits on October 1, while the report on nuts will appear on August 2. Estimates for cotton and cottonseed will appear in the Cotton Report on May 10, 1965; estimates for tobacco will appear in the May 11, 1965 issue of Crop Production; estimates for sugar beets and sugarcane are scheduled for the June 10, 1965 issue of Crop Production; a report covering farm disposition and value of potatoes and sweet-potatoes will be issued on August 10, 1965.

The farm use, sales and value data shown in this report are for the marketing season or crop year. The value estimates shown should not be confused with cash receipts which relate to the calendar year irrespective of the year of production.

FIELD AND SEED CROPS

Production, Farm Use, Sales, and Value, by States, 1963-64

This report, one of a series dealing with farm disposition of major farm products, presents data for the 1963 and 1964 crops of grains, hay, certain seeds, and other specified commodities. It shows estimated sales (sold or to be sold), use (used or to be used) for designated purposes on farms where grown, price, and value. Production shown for each commodity is that published in the December 1964 Annual Crop Production Summary.

Estimates of farm use and sales relate to the disposition of a given year's production within the marketing season shown regardless of time of actual disposition. Quantities going into Government reseal programs at the end of a current marketing year are generally considered as included in sales. Therefore, reseal grains stored on farms are included in the disposition during the marketing season for the year of production.

Estimates of quantities fed to livestock and poultry represent the portion of the year's crop production fed on farms where produced; thus, they do not represent total quantities of such crops ultimately used for livestock and poultry feeding. Grain purchased for feed does not enter into these feed estimates. Some of the products shown as "sold" from farms are used for feed and seed on other farms in the same or other States.

For soybeans, peanuts, and cowpeas, neither the total harvested production nor quantities fed to livestock include the quantities "hogged off" on farms. For certain crops, total seed requirements are shown, and for some, a further breakdown is made to show homegrown seed. The difference between total seed and homegrown seed would thus represent purchased seed, which is included in the total quantity sold. For corn, all disposition items relate to corn for grain production.

Quantities of principal feed crops sold are estimated and the residual--production less sales--is shown as used for feed and seed. Changes in marketing patterns, dietary habits, and other factors have reduced the quantity of grains used in the farm household and estimates of home use have been discontinued for most crops.

For certain commodities, of which there is virtually no farm use, the entire production is shown as sales. Sales of some commodities are estimated directly from an analysis of survey data in which farmers report production and sales. For others, special disposition surveys are made in which farmers report their production of each commodity as well as the quantities used on their farms for each purpose. Whenever possible, sales have been checked by enumerations, such as reports of processors, or by records of handlings and shipments by rail, truck, and boat.

Mid-month prices are used for computing season average prices for most crops included in this report. The mid-month prices are weighted by the estimated percent sold each month in computing State season average prices. Crops for which mid-month prices are not available and for which special survey data are used as the basis for season average prices are broomcorn, buckwheat, cowpeas for peas, hops, maple sirup, popcorn, sugarcane sirup, and velvetbeans. The State and United States season average prices for barley, dry beans, corn, flaxseed, oats, rice, rye, sorghum grain, soybeans, and wheat include an allowance for unredeemed Government loans and purchase agreement deliveries, valued at the average loan rate, by States. The United States season average price shown for each crop is computed by dividing the U. S. value of sales by quantity sold. A United States season average price weighted by production can be derived by dividing the U. S. value of production by quantity produced.

The season average prices for quantities sold are also used to evaluate total quantities produced, and quantities used on farms. Value of sales is computed by applying the unit price to quantity sold during the marketing year. In like manner, value of production and home consumption are computed by applying the season average price to the quantities produced or used.

The marketing season for each crop is shown on pages 38 and 39. A bibliography of farm disposition reports for 1963 and 1964 for other commodities is shown on page 2.
