Hay market trade slow and demand light to moderate, prices steady. Demand remained mostly steady for all regions except for the southwest, where there was an increase in demand. Most all contributors received rain last week causing trouble in the hay field but hate to complain about rain in late July. According to the US Drought Monitor, areas of 2+ inches of rain were widespread across Kansas and parts of Nebraska, with locally over 5 inches in northeast Kansas and southeast Nebraska. Abnormal dryness (D0) decreased to 23 pct, moderate drought (D1) increased to 29 pct, severe drought (D2) decreased to 5 pct, extreme drought (D3) decreased slightly to 2.5 pct. Join agriculture leaders from across the state for the VIRTUAL Kansas Governor's Summit on Agricultural Growth. Starting July 20, we began our online breakout sessions using Zoom, and includes seventeen different agricultural sectors. More information about the Summit, including a link to the registration site, can be found at <https://agriculture.ks.gov/AgGrowthStrategy/ag-summit-2020>. If you have any extra hay to sell and/or need hay here in Kansas, use the services of the Internet Hay Exchange: www.hayexchange.com/ks.php.
