Hay market prices remain steady for alfalfa and grass hay while movement and demand remain light. Mother Nature wasn't quite ready to give up on summer late last week, with many locations reporting daily high temperatures in the mid 90's, prompting some to turn the air conditioner back on. Farmers caught a break from harvest as rain passed through the state allowing them a chance to catch their breath and work on equipment before pushing through to the end of harvest. This week, however, is expected to be more fall like with cooler temperatures and chances of rain early in the week. Some areas could see some severe weather with high winds and hail. According to the US Drought Monitor for the week of October 5th, abnormally dry conditions (D0) decreased to 32%, moderate drought (D1) remained near 11%, and severe drought (D2) decreased to near 4%. If you have any extra hay to sell and/or need hay here in Kansas, use the services of the Internet Hay Exchange: www.hayexchange.com/ks.php.
