Compared to last week, steers and heifers calves sold mostly steady to 5.00 higher, yearlings steady to 3.00 lower. With the CME cattle boards displaying a gloomy outlook the last quarter, demand for big yearlings off grass was good at the few locations that had several load lots on hand. Oklahoma experienced thunderstorms and severe weather across the state this week causing major power outages and limiting cattle movement. However, there was still almost 25,000 head moved through auction markets in the state this week. Superior Livestock Auction held their Big Horn Classic which showcased over 200,000 head. Bulk of the sale was calf trades in the north and these were mostly for fall delivery. Limited sales of feeder steers sold steady to 3.00 lower. Few feeder heifers sold 2.00-4.00 lower. Demand moderate as cattle futures declined sharply the week prior to the sale. Seller interest light to moderate with some producers moving cattle to the next sale and some completely passing on the bids. Several locations are gearing up for the fall run to start, by holding special Labor Day or Customer Appreciation Day sales next week or soon thereafter, so auction receipts should pick up in the coming weeks. Daily negotiated cash cattle trade was light to moderate on moderate demand in the Northern feeding regions with lower prices reported as the week progressed. Early week dressed purchases ranged from 170.00-175.00 with late purchases ranging from 165.00-172.00. Early week live purchases were reported from 106.00-109.00 with late in the week purchases from 104.00-106.00. Northern feeding regions dressed purchases for the week traded mostly 3.00-5.00 lower with live purchases 1.00-4.00 lower. Trade was light to moderate on moderate demand in the Southern Plains on Friday. Live purchases in the Southern Plains for the week traded 3.00 lower mostly at 103.00. Overall negotiated volume ...
