Production schedules for dry buttermilk are slowing this week. Many butter manufacturers slowed their production schedules. Contacts report an increased demand for condensed buttermilk by Class II manufacturers, leaving little buttermilk available for drying. Buttermilk powder demand is also slow this week. The BMP price range did not change from last week. There were a few reported sales for BMP, all falling within the price range. Inventories are currently tight, and some manufacturers report being sold out for the remainder of the month

Prices for: Eastern and Central U.S., All First Sales, F.O.B., Conventional, and Edible Buttermilk

Price Range ; $/LB:	1.1600 - 1.2800
