Direct Hay Weighted Average Report for week ending 4/16/2021

Volume
This Week	Last Reported ( )	Last Year

Please Note: The above volumes (tonnage, acres, and bales) listed on this USDA LPGMN report are for confirmed trades only, it does not include estimated volume (tonnage) for bids or offers to the trade.

Compared to the last report: Hay prices remain firm in all regions. The majority of the cattle producers are still supplementing feed with grazing being tight in most regions. According to the Texas Crop and Weather report, conditions across Texas were abnormally dry and windy. This has added further detriment to already short top and subsoil moisture levels. Hay demand is still very good, but supplies have tightened. As a result, hay prices are very firm with some hay coming into the state from Nebraska and South Dakota since many of our neighboring states are fighting drought conditions as well. Hay producers continue to do field prep to gear up for first cutting.

***Due to limited sales and price changes this report will be released bi-weekly until more volumes of hay is moving.***
*** The next report release will be April 30th***
