Compared to last week bales of alfalfa and grass hay sold steady. Ground and delivered hay and dehy pellets sold steady. Buyer inquiry was moderate in the Central areas. Best demand was noted in the western side of the state as out of state buyers are procuring hay. Light demand for ground and delivered products. Spotty rain showers across the state. Some producers have struggled getting meadow grass hay baled this summer. Most producers are on their third cutting of alfalfa and some are starting to think about cutting cane/millet hay. The drought monitor map continues to increase in severity in the western side and far northeast areas of the Cornhusker state.
